The Carmel Pine Cone

THE OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-SEA, CALIFORNIA

Editor's Column

A Peace Corps volunteer, in a letter to his parents in Carmel, wonders if any clubs, schools, or organizations in this area will help him with a project in South America.

The volunteer is Sam Farr, the son of Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr. He is in Medellin, Colombia, situated in a valley of the Andes.

"We don't like to ask for money from the United States, because we think it isn't community development, also asking for money is like foreign aid, nothing but a gift. But I have found an area where you can help us. None of the schools in our barrio have desks. Students have to bring a chair from home, or sit on a brick or rock.

"They just don't have the money to buy desks, so I'm wondering if clubs, schools, etc. would think of working on an overseas project of providing desks for our schools. Probably wouldn't cost more than $200 for all the desks in all the schools.

"I'll take some pictures to show you how bad the school desk situation is," he promises his family.

Sam goes on to explain that the desks would be made out of wood by the people of the barrio in which he works. They would be of the simple two-pupils-to-a-desk type, he adds.

Money for materials only, to be purchased in Medellin, is required. Sam, like all Peace Corps volunteers, must only show people where he is stationed how to help themselves. His attitude, expressed above, shows that he is reluctant to ask for anything that would seem, in any way, to be like a foreign aid gift.

However, he does see the possibility of a desk-to-desk program in either a public or private school. He also thinks, perhaps, some service organization, church group, or club might like to help him help the people of Medellin to help themselves.

School doesn't start for a month, so Sam, a graduate of Sunset and Carmel high schools, at present, can't expect much action from groups in his old schools. However, his project may appeal to other Carmel groups in the meantime. With this in view, the Pine Cone is passing on his request to his hometown neighbors.

His mother, Mrs. Farr, would like to hear from anyone who wants to help Sam. —M.L.

Going Are The Days Of Haphazard Talk About Our Weather

Weatherwise, Carmel is going to be on the map.

The city never did suffer from lack of attention to its weather. Citizens and visitors have always found it a prime topic of conversation. All over the country people have discussed it and sought information about it. But this information was apt to vary according to what did or did not ail someone... perhaps sunburn, shivers, or even the shakes.

But those days are going fast. Soon Carmel will have an official weather station. The city council unanimously agreed so (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Trustees Adopt School Budget Of $2,280,462

Following a public hearing, at which only one taxpayer appeared to protest, the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District, last night, adopted a budget totaling $2,280,462 for the 1964-65 school year.

This budget requires taxpayers to pay 24 cents more school tax than they did last year. The new school tax rate is $2.57 per $100 assessed property valuation.

Major General James H. Phillips (USA Ret.) protested the 24-cent tax increase. He stated the budget included luxury items, including adult education. He also said parents, not the taxpayer, should pay for driver-training instruction.

None of the other four spectators in the audience spoke either for or against the budget. In addition to them two teachers, two members of the press, and one salesman comprised full attendance at the public hearing.

Mrs. Richard W. Bell expressed to the board her appreciation of the excellence of the fifth and sixth grade teaching program at Sunset School, also the homework bulletin and the Tuesday morning radio program. Mrs. Bell spoke in appreciation, too, of better relationship with parents and higher teacher morale at Sunset.

Superintendent Medill Bair, in talking about the budget, stated that, during 1964-65, the school district will operate with less personnel but increases granted by the board brings salary ex-

City Joins Norberg In Fight To Save Del Monte Limited

A happy Councilman Gunnar Norberg had in his hand this morning a letter from the Carmel city council requesting continuance of the Del Monte Limited when he arrived at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in Monterey on the Southern Pacific's request to take the train out of service.

Mr. Norberg told the council last night he intended to fight, alone, for the retention of the only railway passenger service to the Peninsula. He asserted that the presiding commissioner "will hear as much from me as he will tolerate."

Following the unanimous council decision to support retention of the Del Monte, Mr. Norberg said he would be pleased to deliver the letter giving this decision.

Other action taken by the council last night included the establishment of two-hour parking limits on the north side of Eighth between San Carlos and Mission; both sides of Mission between Seventh and Eighth; the north side of Seventh between San Carlos and Mission; Fifth between San Carlos and Mission, and San Carlos between Fourth and Fifth.

Hugh Bayless was appointed to fill the unexpired term of George R. Walker on the Monterey Peninsula Garbage and Refuse Board. He was also author-

CITY LAND APPRAISED

According to an appraisal just completed by the Carmel Board of Realtors, the city owns land valued at $1,265,000.

This includes the city hall, corporation yard, youth center, police station, Forest Theater, firehouse, post office parking lot, Devendorf Plaza and Forest Hill Park. Of these, deed restrictions forbid the sale of the plaza and the park. The youth center, also cannot be sold.

Not included in the appraisal are beach lands, greenbelt in Flanders Canyon and the Harrison Memorial Library.

August Nieto, Leo Tanous and Robert Ross were the appraisers for the realty board.

City-Gallery Fight Continues Monday In San Francisco

Last night the city council decided against a conference with Stanton M. Bier of the Fine Arts Gallery of Scottsdale, Arizona. Mr. Bier had requested a meeting in order to discuss formulating new regulations and controls for businesses, in Carmel.

Monday, the gallery's case against the city will be heard in Federal court in San Francisco. City Attorney John Morse will have as co-counsel Eugene Clifford and Victor Hebert, associated with the San Francisco law firm of Heller, Ehrman, White and McAuliffe.

Mr. Morse went to San Francisco yesterday to confer with the attorneys who will aid him in defending the city.

The San Francisco hearing was postponed from this week to next week. Monday, the city's attorneys will seek a rejudgment of the federal court restraining order against the city obtained by the Fine Arts Gallery.

This order prevented the city from enforcing its emergency ordinance prohibiting auction sales.

The city, in a county superior court, tried to obtain an injunction against the gallery on the grounds that it is violating the city's zoning laws. Action on this motion depends on the outcome of Monday's hearing.

The gallery is still in operation.

Last night, the council decided to take no action on Mr. Bier's proposal to discuss new regulations and controls for businesses until such time as the Fine Arts Gallery withdraws its present action against the city and brings its operation into conformance with all the city's ordinances.

SENATOR SALINGER

Pierre Salinger was seated as the new Senator from California yesterday and his mother, Mrs. Jehanne Carlson of Carmel, was there for the ceremony. Senator Salinger's swearing in was witnessed by a full quota of Senators, Republicans and Democrats, plus a contingent of 160 enthusiastic supporters from California, headed by Governor Brown, who had flown to the capital by chartered jet.

Council Chops Budget Items, Tax Rate Drops

Slowly, in two four-hour sessions lasting well past midnight this week, the city council has eliminated proposed expenditures amounting to $22,558 and reduced the projected tax rate 11.9 cents.

As of shortly after midnight this morning, the tax rate for 1964-65 stood at $1.198 as opposed to 94½ cents last year.

But there is still another close scrutiny of remaining capital outlay items on the budget set for Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. During this session, the council will also review the entire 1964-65 budget in an endeavor to cut out any expenditures previously approved but which, on second consideration, may seem to be extravagances.

Mayor Blanks stated last night that any interested taxpayers will be given an opportunity to question city expenditures for the coming year on Tuesday evening before the budget is adopted by the council. Wednesday evening the council will meet again at the same time to set the 1964-65 tax rate.

Last night Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and Fire Chief Robert E. Smith saw items they desired for their departments removed from the budget.

Mr. Klaumann chose a third police car and another policeman rather than the car plus a motor scooter and a policewoman. This choice saved the city $2,218.

Mr. Smith relinquished an alarm box system for the city; and a pickup truck to take care of gas washdowns. He agreed on a $750 generator, bought from surplus stock, instead of a new $3,500 power plant for use during emergencies when electrical power is out. These cuts in his department budget requests amounted to $15,750.

Approved last night were the following operational and maintenance budgets: fire house, $4,050; city hall, $3,070; corporation yard, $900; building inspector's office, $2,040; insurance, $27,060; retirement, $41,425.

On Tuesday night, the council will endeavor to cut capital outlay budget requests of the public works department; city clerk, building inspector and planning director's offices; also preliminary budgeted expenditures for public facilities, including a dimming panel and acoustical shell for the Forest Theater; furniture and microphones for the city hall; and replacement reserve funds.

The council will also further consider the Harrison Memorial Library budget and a request for new doors for the fire house. The present heavy wooden doors are a hazard, Chief Smith declares, because they are weather-warped and bolts holding the handwrought hinges of the doors in place are falling out due to deterioration of cement in the walls.

He is asking for new, and lighter metal doors. The present doors are apt to fall off and prevent equipment responding to a fire call, or injure firemen, he told the council. Already eight injuries have been caused by these doors, he added.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg stated $3,750 was a lot of money for doors and requested further information. He thought repairs of some kind might lower this cost to the city.

Tuesday night the city council managed to whack $3,820 off the preliminary budget. However, items amounting to $2,175 were added in. The resulting reduction, therefore totaled $1,645.

An increase was authorized by the council in the city attorney's office. The sum of $1,000 for special services was upped to $2,500. This added amount was needed for two lawsuits in which the city is presently involved, even Councilman Norberg agreed.

Mr. Norberg made the motion to increase the city council's fund from $1,125 to $1,500. The added amount will cover, among other things, the expense of sending three councilmen to the League of California Cities convention in Los Angeles. After surveying budget demands of other departments of the city government, Mr. Norberg observed "Carmel certainly has an economical city council."

He did not approve adding $25 to the monthly salary ($180) of the secretary to boards and commissions, a responsibility undertaken by City Clerk Hugh Bayless.

"We have a good man who is well paid at this time and it is not necessary to pay him more," Mr. Norberg stated in reference to the fact that the city clerk's salary is $660 per month and to this is added his stipend for serving as secretary to the city's boards and commissions (now $205), also $100 a month for act-

Come you natives, come to town, come and see the funny clown. See the females, almost nude, mates with far less pulchritude.

Now's the season, now's the time, minus reason, rule or rhyme, strange vacationers appear in their strangely garbed gear. Dressed in skin-tight cotton shorts, look like ill-begotten sports grown from some neglected stock someone hid beneath a rock.

Where'd they get that misplaced bulge which their lack of clothes divulge? Do they hibernate all year then crawl out and disappear?

Let's hope Fashion soon decrees clothes to cover shapes like these. Better far an Arab gown than all those rear ends seen 'round town!

Letters To The Editor . . .

August 4, 1964

Dear Madam:

As manager of the Tri-City Connie Mack team, (1964 League champions of the Monterey Bay Connie Mack League), I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people, in behalf of the team, who have given us financial aid to make possible our trip to the Hanford Connie Mack Northern Division Sectional Tournament.

Also to all the parents and friends who supported the team this season, our sincere thanks.

Here is an incident the Monterey Peninsula people can be proud of. After our loss to Hanford's Connie Mack team in the second game, our boys went over to congratulate the winning team, and their manager was quoted by "Cameron," Stearns, tournament director, as saying this was the first time any losing team came to congratulate them this year, and they were very surprised and pleased over the sportsmanship displayed by our team.

Sincerely,

Ben Omoto, manager

Tri-City Connie Mack Team

Editor's Note:

Daisy Bostick, a true oldtimer, forwarded to the Pine Cone the letter printed below. It was written by Raine Edward Bennett, executive director of Islands Research Foundation, Inc., of New York City.

July 15, 1964

My dear friend,

Sitting in my Manhattan studio this Saturday evening at 7:30 (Eastern Standard Time) we were discussing, in nostalgic vein, the sacred tranquillities of Carmel-by-the-Sea. I had been regaling my friends (a cluster of writers) over memories of you, of Perry Newberry, and why any writer who had lost his soul should go there to recover it. One of those present turned on the radio: and we were electrified by an announcement that someone whose name sounded like "Earl Gardner or Garner" was about to be heard across the nation from "Carmel-by-the-Sea" and since this was the first time in history that my beloved Carmel (where I wouldn't mind dying, cradled by the thunder of the Pacific) was being featured on a coast-to-coast radio program, we gathered around the receiver in appropriate awe. And what did we hear?

A blare of Harlem jazz! Juvenile delinquency in tonal rhythms; drums, screams, and horror. Then the announcer said: "You have just heard a transcontinental broadcast from Carmel-by-the-Sea, a Colony of artists who appreciate Jazz Hot!"

O, Daisy! O Perry (can you hear me?), O Robinson Jeffers, George Sterling, Jimmy Hopper, Jack London, Dan Tothoroh, Ed Kuster, Garnet Holme, Mary Austin, Jo Mora, De Neale Morgan, Xavier Martinez — where are you now? Come back from your clouds of glory, the infinite evening lands of your immortality, and drive such rascals out! Affectionately,
Raine

Cancer Society Has Surpassed Fund Goal

More than $50,000 has been raised to date in Monterey County by the American Cancer Society through its recent crusade for funds. Dr. James A. Mattison, Jr., president, announced at a board meeting held in Monterey on July 30.

"We are extremely grateful for the wonderful response to our plea for funds," Dr. Mattison said. "Though our basic goal of $48,300.00 has been surpassed, we still have hopes of equaling the heart-warming 1963 total of $55,000.00."

The budget committee of the society has begun allocating funds locally for the support of tumor boards, aid and services to cancer victims, service projects and an accelerated cancer education program.

One-third of the funds raised is being forwarded immediately into research fields for the increasingly encouraging search for a cure for the dread disease, Dr. Mattison reported.

Donations were as follows: Monterey area, $31,526.82; Carmel, $7,555.79; Pebble Beach, $4,350.30; Carmel Valley, $2,995.16.

Tri-City Team Lost Hanford Tournament

Individual donations from 92 Peninsula residents made it possible for the 1964 Tri-City Connie Mack team to be able to participate in the sectional tournament at Hanford, August 1-3.

The team, although not victorious in the tournament, represented themselves and our community in a manner which made all those who attended the game from the three cities proud. Other teams that participated commented on the sportsmanlike manner in which the boys conducted themselves.

In the opening game of the tournament, Tri-City defeated Mt. Whitney 7-1. Bob Roberts went the distance allowing only two hits. Roberts also hit the first home run of the tournament. The team played fine defensive ball and came through with key hits to enable Tri-City to win.

Sunday evening Tri-City met the Hanford Saints, the host team, and was defeated 5-0. Bob Holmes pitched a fine game in defeat. The Hanford pitcher allowed only 3 men to reach base. Gene Johnson got the only hit and Danny Morgan walked twice. Because Tri-City lost this game, after 35 minutes they had to meet the Mt. Whitney team for the second time. Tri-City had a commanding 5-run lead in the top of the first inning, only to see Mt. Whitney rally with 3 runs in the bottom half. Danny Morgan collected 3 hits, one of which was a 2-run homer over the left field fence to give Tri-City an 8-6 lead at the end of 4 innings. Mt. Whitney then tied the score. Merle Chapman hit his second homer of the night to win the game for Mt. Whitney. Bob Roberts relieved Steve Johnson in the third inning and was charged with the loss.

Early Deer Season Opens On Saturday

Prospects for the early coastal deer season which opens Saturday are on a par with opening conditions a year ago, the California Department of Fish and Game reports. The season will run through September 20. All of Monterey County is included in the early season. "Good survival among fawns born in 1962 and 1963 should produce a substantial increase in the 1964 buck kill over last year," a Fish and Game report predicts.

Hunters going into Los Padres National Forest must first obtain a free permit at a forest guard station. The Hunter-Liggett, Camp Roberts and Fort Ord military reservations are open to public hunting on a limited basis, after a permit has been obtained from the base office of each reservation. The remainder of the county is private land, with hunting allowed only by written permission from a landowner.

All persons under 18 years of age must produce a certificate of competence of a hunter safety training course, or a prior year's California hunting license, to qualify for a 1964 license.

Mary and John to Marry

On Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Mary Helm Weisiger and Jonathan Michael Elber will exchange wedding vows in a ceremony conducted by the Reverend David Hill in All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Violet Weisiger. Jonathan is the son of Mrs. Sara Reamer Elber and the grandson of Mrs. George W. Reamer. Both young people are active members of Carmel little theatre groups. John plans to make acting his career and will appear in the Circle Theatre production which opens tomorrow night.

The reception following the ceremony, witnessed by family members, will take place in the home which Mrs. Elber shares with her mother. This house, built by the late Mr. Reamer in 1908, is one of the first two houses built on Carmel Point and Mrs. Elber was born in it.

Just back from a honeymoon in Mexico are John's brother, Daniel, and his wife, the former Gloria Lewis. Dan will be his brother's best man on Monday afternoon.

Mary and John set their wedding date for next week in order that John's youngest brother, David, can be present. He has been spending the summer in Honolulu with his uncle, Bain Reamer, and missed Danny and Gloria's marriage on June 28. Incidentally, Bain's older daughter, Lani, will be married on Saturday.

Besides his two brothers, John has a sister, Catherine, a Carmel High School junior.

Marcia To See Rodney Wed

Rodney Pierce Phillips, the son of Mrs. John W. Morse, left today for Milford, Massachusetts, where his marriage to Cynthia Calarese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Louis Calarese of Milford, will take place on Sunday. One Carmelite present at the wedding will be Marcia McGinnis, who will fly from New York for the nuptials and wedding reception. Marcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGinnis, has been in New York since June, when as one of the winners of the Mademoiselle Magazine yearly contest for college students, she was awarded a visit to New York and London, plus a month on the publication's editorial staff. Marcia's creation of advertisements, both copy and illustration, won high approval and an invitation to extend her stay with Mademoiselle until August 15.

Pat Elston Home

Pat Elston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Elston, who claims that she has had enough travel for a while, is staying at home while her family vacations at Bass Lake.

Pat, with a trip around the world her plan, left here in October. She spent five months in Japan and traveled in leisurely fashion on to Manila where she unfortunately contracted hepatitis.

"Only a hop away from California I decided to come home and really Carmel looks wonderful," Pat, completely well again, told the Pine Cone.

Engaged

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Taaffe of Carmel Valley of the engagement of their daughter, Martha, to Joseph C. Zoellin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zoellin, of Carmel.

Both Martha and Joseph are graduates of Carmel High School. Their wedding day will be September 8.

Jack And Lacy Home

Dr. and Mrs. John Faia, III, (Lacy Williams) are home again, this time to stay. Jack was awarded his degree in dental surgery in June by the University of Southern California school of dentistry and plans to practice here. At the moment the young Faia's are house hunting while dividing their time between Lacy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meade Williams, and Jack's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Faia, Jr. They are also introducing Dr. and Mrs. Donald G. Burnett of Los Angeles to Carmel fun. Dr. Burnett was a classmate of Jack's and he and his wife are house guests of the Faia's.

Bannermans Move

The young James C. (Jim) Bannermans are getting settled in their new home in Lompoc, near Santa Barbara, where Jim has taken up his duties in the Crocker-Citizens bank. With banking his chosen career, Jim has gone a long way in three and a half years. He recently graduated from the Crocker-Citizens training school in San Francisco which places him in the executive bracket. Jim's mother, Mrs. James G. Bannerman has just returned from visiting Jim and Judy and their two children, Julia Ann and Jeffery Thomas.

Manzanita Theatre Neighbor

The razing this week and last, of the old Manzanita Theatre on San Carlos below Ocean was of special interest to Mrs. Maude Stewart. For many years she lived in a house just above the Texaco station in the same block. She and her husband bought two lots in this location over 40 years ago, but their association with Carmel went back much farther, she said in a telephone call to the Pine Cone.

Mrs. Stewart came to Carmel in December of 1906. In June of the same year she and Mr. Stewart were married and made their home near Sunset school until World War I. They then moved to Carmel Valley where Mr. Stewart was a rancher for some years. Following this they moved into town and bought the property on which Carmel Square is now situated. Mrs. Stewart is intrigued that she sold this land to Kip Stewart, who is no relative, but keeps the clan name on the property rolls.

Mrs. Stewart now lives on Laine street in Monterey and says friends may telephone her at 375-2977. Her sister, Mrs. Jack Buttle, plans to make her home with her shortly, she reports.

"I certainly do remember the Manzanita Theatre," Mrs. Stewart declares and adds that she plans a trip over the hill to see all the new development in her old block "some time soon."

Mayflower Meeting

The Monterey Bay colony of the Society of Mayflower Descendants will meet on Saturday for luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in the Casa Munras. The program will consist of discussion by members of their ancestors. Miss Florence Baker, colony governor, will preside. Guests will be welcome. More information, if desired, may be obtained by telephoning 624-7775.

Off to Greenland

Gunnar Reimers bid farewell to his father, Niels Reimers, last weekend and then flew to Greenland. An engineer, Gunnar will work in Greenland for the Philco company with which he is associated. His younger brother, Niels, Jr., also an engineer with the same organization, with his wife, will fly to Norway shortly for a vacation. He and Gunnar made plans to meet in their father's homeland during Niels' time abroad.

Home For Two Weeks

Susan Trevvett, the daughter of Mrs. Patricia Trevvett and granddaughter of Mrs. Richard W. Johnson, has been home for a two-weeks visit. She returned to Tucson, Arizona, on Monday where she is secretary in the Valley School for Girls from which she graduated in 1961. Susan's younger sister, Kreigh, will graduate from the same school next June.

Joins Parks Patrol

Having completed his army stint with service in Alaska and at Fort Ord, Gordon Parker has temporarily enlisted with the National Parks Patrol. Home for a 48-hour visit with his mother, Mrs. James Edson Parker, Gordon, stationed at Sequoia, Kings Canyon National Park, said his job includes fire, fish and road patrolling. Whether or not he will make forestry a career is still a question in Gordon's mind.

Visiting The Cooks

Visiting Carmel Pine Cone publisher Clifford Cook and Mrs. Cook are Clifford's father, Richard C. Cook of El Reno, Oklahoma, and his nephew, Carson Cook, with his wife and five children from Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The senior Mr. Cook who has not visited Carmel since the mid-40's finds "many changes" whether for better or worse, he has not committed himself!

Mike Raggett to Idaho

U.S. Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mike Raggett has been home for the past ten days after six months in training at the nuclear submarine school at Mare Island. He is leaving Carmel today to attend the nuclear power training school at Idaho Falls, Idaho. After six months there, Mike will be assigned to submarine duty. He has hopefully applied for a West Coast base which would place him at either San Diego or Hawaii.

House guests of the Mark Raggetts during their son's stay were Lt. Andy Hardy, USN, a classmate of Mike's, and Miss Carol Cathart of Honolulu.

Pebble Beach News

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Adams of New York (the former Mrs. Charles Crocker) were overnight guests in Pebble Beach last week end and dined Saturday night with Mrs. Henry Potter Russell in the Carmel Valley. They expect to return this weekend for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fenton have returned to their Pebble Beach home following a sojourn in Europe.

Illys Tolstoy of New York, son of the famous Russian author, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Davis this week in Pebble Beach, where the Davises have taken a house for the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Wedlake of Pebble Beach will honor the William W. Durneys Thursday, August 6, before the Durneys departure for Europe where they will travel for an indefinite period.

Lakys in Mexico

Letters from Les Laky and his son Mat, who are traveling through Mexico, are crammed with praise of the architecture of Mexico City, the ancient hamlets, and the friendliness of the people. The travelers have no set itinerary and plan to spend two more weeks south of the border.

In the meantime Mrs. Laky, supervising the Laky Galleries alone, says that she spends most of her time fending off delivery men who insist upon delivering huge crates to her which are meant for the much discussed auction rooms that are practically next door. She is in the midst of plans for a new show in September, with details to be announced in mid-August.

Morses's Housewarming

A surprise housewarming party at the cocktail hour brought together two dozen friends of the John W. Morses in their beautiful new home in Hatton Fields on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Robert McGinnis really started it all but so many joined in the plans to take hors d'oeuvres and libations that who "gave" the party became a multiple question.

The Morses were presented with tiki mask flares to surround their swimming pool. Mrs. McGinnis, who did the "shopping" tells that she toured the county for just the right characters... the flares are delightfully harrowing South Sea masks!

Hornings Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Horning of Sacramento with their three-year-old twin sons, John and Jeffrey, have been visiting the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Chambers of Monterey and Mrs. Roy A. Horning of Pebble Beach.

Andrew is a senior at Sacramento State College and is employed by Allstate Insurance Company. Young Mrs. Horning graduated from the same college in June.

JoAnn Kinion To Wed

The wedding day for JoAnn Kinion, daughter of Commander Arthur J. Kinion (USN), and Mrs. Kinion, to Theodore Davis of Powder Springs, Georgia, has been set for August 22.

JoAnn is a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls and Santa Clara University. She is currently engaged in secretarial duties at Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach. Her father is on duty at the Western Sea Frontier, Treasure Island, spending his off-duty weekends with the family in Carmel.

Theodore Davis, JoAnn's fiancé, is a graduate of Georgia Tech and is currently enrolled in Harvard University graduate school. The young couple plan to live in Cambridge, Massachusetts, as Theodore will continue his studies at Harvard through next winter.

Honored At Barbecue

Mr. and Mrs. John Redhead's barbecue supper on Sunday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sherman and the Shermans' son and daughter, Karl and Laura, also Mrs. Sherman's father, Fred Elstob, was a happy evening of reminiscing.

Lucy "grew up" in Sunset School with Bonnie Lynn Redhead, now Mrs. James Babbs and living in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Terry Holland (Mary Elstob) now living in Menlo Park, and Constance Nielsen, daughter of the Walter Nielsens, who is living in San Francisco, were at the Redheads through the cocktail hour but left to drive to the city early in the evening.

The young Sherman family left by car on Tuesday to visit Michael's paternal grandmother in Santa Monica; from there they will go to Laguna Beach and home to St. Louis, Missouri, where Michael is assistant executive manager of the Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

At Camp Kennolyn

Ralph and Joan Thompson drove to Kennolyn Camp near Sequel over the weekend to see Larry, their son, who is a counselor-in-training there.

While the camp, now in its 19th year, accommodates about 200 boys and girls it seems that Carmel must have a majority representation! The three children of the Howard Bucquets, "Buck," George and Susan are there, also Peter Rand, the young son of Mrs. R. J. Howze.

Doctor's children at Kennolyn were Clyn Smith, III, a counselor-in-training, Sharon and Brian Smith.

Robbie Lou, daughter of the Douglas Grahams, seemed to be enjoying herself immensely.

Courtney and Howard Brunn's offspring, David Brunn and Vance Brooker, were very much in evidence. David is a counselor-in-training.

Jacqueline Strasburger has just returned from a three-week stay at the camp while her brother, Rick, will remain for additional three weeks. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strasburger, Jr.

Farbman's Here

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Farbman and their sons, Mark, Eric and Dean, also Mrs. Farbman's mother, Mrs. Grattan English, all from San Francisco, are occupying a house on Camino Real during the month of August. Mr. Farbman, a news photographer, joined the staff of "Life" magazine in its early years. He worked out of the London, Paris and Rome bureaus of the magazine before returning to California. During part of this time, his wife, Pat, who accompanied him abroad, also was on "Life's" photographic staff.

Dinner Dance

The second in a series of summer dinner dances for Beach Club members will be held tomorrow evening.

WINS WINGS

Susan Catherine White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. White, Carmel, has completed her training for the position of flight stewardess with Pan American Airways.

Wearing her new "wings," Susan will fly Pan Am's Jet Clippers on the international airline's routes to Hawaii and Alaska.

She attended Junipero Serra School, also Carmel High School, and is a graduate of Colorado State College where she majored in fine arts. Before joining Pan American she had been a teacher in the Monterey public school system.

During her four-week training course at Pan American's overseas division headquarters at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York, Susan studied first aid, obstetrics, cooking above the clouds, dietetics, child care, passenger service, aerodynamics and meteorology.

She will be based in Seattle and will fly a minimum of 70 hours a month to Honolulu, also to Juneau, Fairbanks and Ketchikan.

Report From Fred Rider

A postcard to the Pine Cone from Fred Rider pictures the Festival Theatre in Stratford-Ontario, Canada. Fred's message says "This is a charming festival town and a magnificent theatre. The productions are the best to be found anywhere on this side of the Atlantic, and in fact they outclass some of the great European theatres' work."

Fred and his wife, Marcia, had four "exciting" days in Minneapolis before going to Stratford and the day the card was sent, last Thursday, left for New York.

Fred has a Ford Foundation grant to attend all the major festival theatres in this country and Canada. He expects to be back in Carmel this weekend with much knowledge to aid him in launching a professional repertory company on the Monterey Peninsula in 1966 under the auspices of the Committee for a Festival Theatre.

A Host of Children

In a three-car caravan, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Lewenhaupt returned to San Francisco on Sunday with eight of their nine children and all the paraphernalia required by so large a family on a lengthy stay away from home.

The Lewenhaupts occupied a house during their month here on Rio Road next door to Carmel's largest family, the Beardsleys. Between the two houses, during July, there was a total of 26 children. It would have been 29 except that the two eldest Beardsley boys were away and the Lewenhaupts' oldest son was on his way to Sweden.

MPVS To Award Checks

Tomorrow the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services' business and luncheon meeting will be held at La Playa Hotel.

The business meeting will be called to order in the conference room and will feature presentation to the Carmel Youth Center of the net proceeds earned at the MPVS Thrift Shop during the period from July 20 through July 31.

Another important feature of the business meeting, which will begin at 11:00 a.m., will be the consideration and approval, by vote of the membership, of agencies to receive proceeds from the third annual Flea Market to be held at the Monterey Fairgrounds on October 7.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. and will serve as a background for the ceremony in which a check will be presented to the Visiting Nurse Association, representing proceeds from the 13th annual House and Garden Tour on July 15. Guests of honor will include the owners of all of the properties shown on this year's tour.

Members of MPVS hospitality committee will act as official hostesses and are planning colorful table decorations and door prizes.

True News

Dr. and Mrs. William R. True have just returned from a fortnight in Sun Valley, not completely a vacation for Dr. True as he attended a conference on ophthalmology while he was there. On Saturday Mrs. True with her young son Greg, will leave for Bethany, Missouri, where they will visit Mrs. True's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Wightman.

Bill, the True's elder son, who graduated from the University of California in June and, having taken NROTC training, was commissioned an ensign in the Navy, is currently stationed at the U.S. Navy Supply Corps School in Athens, Georgia.

Council And Planners Recommend Solution For All-Day Parkers

first 2,000 square feet, one space for each additional 2,000 square feet or major fraction thereof.

Ground floor in addition to 6,000 square feet—one space for each 1,500 square feet or major fraction.

Second floor — one space for every 1,000 square feet.

The ground floor is defined in the report as one that has access from the street level, even though it may have another floor below it, or a similar ground floor above it.

The second floor is one which does not have street access and is directly above a ground floor as defined above.

Any floor area of a structure devoted to parking, or for access to parking, will not be included in the floor area formula.

Lastly, the report recommends that a formula be developed for payment, deposit, or a lien on property, to assure means for supplying off-site parking when it is not required, or permitted, on a site. Also that all on-site and off-site parking facilities, arrangements, or provisions be given detailed consideration by the design review board of the planning commission.

Saroyan Play Opens At Circle August 7

Fresno author William Saroyan is one of the rare writers to have refused a Pulitzer prize. In spurning the honor bestowed on his stage masterpiece, "The Time of Your Life," he showed the world that his heart was entirely on the side of the non-conformist in this world. They are the people about whom he writes so warmly and brilliantly in his rambling play, which is set in a San Francisco waterfront bar. It has been a landmark in American drama since its Broadway opening in the fall of 1939.

Nick Zanides is now staging "The Time of Your Life" for an August 7 opening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. He will have a strong team of collaborators, including scenic designer Barbara Tripp, and such local stalwarts as Morgan Stock, Sam Karas, John Elber and Dick Vreeland in key roles.

Sixteen students in the Fresno State College theatre workshop, now in progress at the Golden Bough, will also participate. Chief among them is Megan McBride, who is cast as the pathetic streetwalker, Kitty Duval. The role represents a feat of versatility for Miss McBride, who has just finished playing the Conjur Woman, a witch-like old crone, in the Circle's production of "Dark of the Moon."

Duke Everts will bring to life one of Saroyan's funniest creations, the bravura "bull artist," Kit Carson.

"The Time of Your Life" will have a five-week run, ending on September 6. It plays on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings only, at 8:30.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Councilmen And Planners Want 'All-Day Parker' Out Of Residence Zone

A developer of property in the commercial district shall be required to provide all-day parking off the street for tenants and employees of any business occupying the developed premises is the basis of a report made by a joint committee of the city council and planning commission.

That recent retail and office developments, along with the increased area devoted to limited time parking, have forced all-day parking for tenants and employees into the residential areas, to the detriment of these areas, was the reason for the committee's study.

The operators of businesses and their employees constitute the bulk of the "all day parker," the committee states in its report which proposes controls to remedy this situation.

The city council will consider the report in a special study session for which no date has been set as yet. The planning commission will devote a special study session to the report on August 12.

Members of the committee which prepared the report were Mayor Herbert Blanks, Police Commissioner James Buffington and two planning commissioners, Fred Keeble and George Willox. City Clerk Hugh Bayless acted as secretary and consultants were City Attorney John Morse and Director of Planning Floyd Adams.

The off-street parking requirements mentioned above shall be based on floor area and only apply to new developments, or property to which additions or remodeling constitute a major improvement, the report states.

Motels, hotels and multiple dwellings will continue to be required to provide 100 percent on-site parking as is now demanded. Also any part of a development in such uses shall be required to meet similar parking demands.

DIVIDE BUSINESS ZONE

Another proposal of the report is that the three zones of the business district be divided into two general types. One of these will be required to provide on-site parking. The other type of business development, in the "core" area of the commercial zone, preferably should provide off-site parking for tenants and employees in parking lots on the edge of the business district.

The "core" area is defined in the report as the "heart" of intensive retail and pedestrian use. Wherever feasible, on-site parking will be allowed in this area under a use permit.

Outside the "core" area, exemption from on-site parking will be given, after the board of adjustments has granted a use permit, (a) for sites of less than 5,000 square feet with less than 50 feet of street frontage if this site is not part of a larger development under the same ownership; (b) if required parking is developed in the block jointly by adjacent property owners; (c) an appreciable percentage of curb space for limited time parking on a street has been eliminated by driveways for service stations, parking lots, etc. (d) where topography or peculiar conditions make parking impractical.

Provision must be made for the unloading and delivery of merchandise in any on-site parking, is another statement in the report.

REALIGN BUSINESS ZONES

The present C-1-C zone is not identical in outline to the tourist-retail "core" area of the business district, the parking report points out.

This area, vital to Carmel's economy, is now intruded by the service station overlay zone. Certain properties facing on Ocean Avenue and not in the C-1-C zone are tourist-retail in type and thus not realistically or desirably zoned, the report says and recommends that present C-1-C boundaries be studied and evaluated with the purpose of realigning them more closely with tourist-retail developments.

PARKING FORMULA

The formula for the development of tenant-employee parking is stated in the report as follows

Ground floor — first 6,000 square feet—one space for the (Continued on Page Eleven)

Last Chance This Weekend To See Superbly Directed White Oaks 'Three-Penny Opera' Presentation

Whenever anybody mentioned "neighborhood theater" to me, I used to shudder and back off. It's bad enough that people insist on staging amateur shows, without being forced into the audience, an unwilling reviewer. But, such was not the case at my first visit to Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre Thursday night. There wasn't an amateur on the stage. Every actor and actress had the poise, timing and delivery of a professional.

It soon became apparent that the smoothness, pacing and effectiveness of "The Three-Penny Opera" was due in great measure to the very competent direction of Eleanor Stoltz, who has been with this theatre workshop since last summer. Miss Stoltz' feeling and consciousness of the London underworld at the time of the coronation of Queen Victoria, was revealed as nothing short of amazing, especially to a born Londoner such as this reviewer.

Outstanding as Mr. Peachum, impresario of a beggar's outfit shop in the London slums, Christopher Milo rendered a magnificent performance augmented with a voice both melodious and powerful, yet modulated in perfect control where required. Sally Champlin as his wife carried off her role with distinct artistry and authenticity, convincing the viewer that she was really the booze-soaked slob she portrayed. Miss Champlin's voice is adequate and learning adjusted to her part. Her acting was faultless.

Jerry DeWilde as Mack the Knife (Macheath) left nothing to be desired considering the part he had to depict, a villainous scoundrel without remorse or scruples. His songs could have been delivered in a somewhat slower tempo, which might have helped his enunciation, even though the music was written to be played in rapid fire.

Mack's two lieutenants, Mitch Marco and Dolph Baumann, as a couple of cockney hoods, ran away with high honors. Their cockney dialect, while tempered to be understandable to an American audience, was nevertheless "straight from White-chapel" or Wapping. Both of these young actors have great careers ahead of them, even though Mr. Baumann aspires more to the field of writing.

Lucy Brown, one of Mack's cast-off light-o'-loves, was sung by Mary Bridgit Mulkey with such fire and delightful musicianship that she just about stopped the show in one aria. We hope to hear much, much more from Miss Mulkey. And Kate Porter as Jenny, the bawdiest denizen of the Wapping brothel, played with such abandon that it was hard to believe she wasn't really a hard-bitten character of the streets. Her singing passages should have been relieved with part of the delivery in straight recitation, to burst into full song in the last lines of the stanzas.

Mary Pattie Mitchell as Polly Peachum presented a strange combination of innocent girlhood and hardened guttersnipe, almost too hard to believe since

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Past this place are dragons! So a medieval map was annotated by its long dead cartographer, and from this is derived the title of the latest book by Hamilton Basso. Those of us who enjoy the terse craftsmanship of this author will read his A Touch of the Dragon with our customary zestful appreciation. This is a book filled with honest plausible people who speak a language we use and understand. And Mr. Basso's deft turn of phrase is just as delightful as in his earlier books.

Plunging Into Politics is the title of a book by Marshall Loeb, who has been an editor on she went into her marriage with such a character as Mack the Knife with her eyes wide open. However, she did full justice to the part, and engaged the sympathy of the audience throughout. She sang with effectiveness and spirit, and her vocal battle with Lucy in duet earned laurels for both.

The "girls" of the brothel, Renee Wurzmann, Sandra Lundwall, Angene Fever and Toni Brandt were alluring, wicked and enticingly pulchritudinous. Diana Kathleen Draper, Marilyn Fowler, Esther Beth Makinster and Dave Jenkinson were made up as the most revolting beggars seen this side of the lower East End Docks, actually providing the background for the opera theme.

Raymond Alex as Tiger Brown, commissioner of police, was convincing enough as the crooked cop, although he should have been equipped with a commissioner's peaked cap instead of a "bobbie's" helmet. His underling, Ron Stark, as Warden Smith, was as degenerate as a consumptive policeman could possibly attain and underplayed his part with artistic knowhow. Set designs by Bruce Harrow were atmospherically perfect. Costumes by Susan Scott Weiner left little to be improved upon, and the music under the direction of Pianist Chris Nance made the show the musical treat it has achieved.

The theatre was almost jammed Thursday night, and is more so on weekends. If you haven't seen "Three-Penny Opera" you should hurry because the show is scheduled to close August 9, to be followed with the opening of "The Pajama Game" on August 13.

—H.W.F.

"Time" magazine since 1956. In an election year a book of this kind is especially timely. This is grass roots stuff for the person interested in running for office, any office. To begin, it gives you the questions you should ask yourself before you ever decide to declare your candidacy. If you can give yourself favorable answers, the book goes on to show you how to build your organization, how to choose a campaign manager, how to raise money and how to spend it. Can't you just hear people saying to you "Good morning, Governor?"

A new biography of the artist Gauguin is by Henri Perruchot. There have been several biographies of Paul Gauguin and it is difficult to say whether or not this new one is definitive. But it is at least the last word on the artist and is illustrated with photographs, many of which are self portraits.

Two more books for the horse lover, both small and both Monterey county library books in case you live outside the city limits! The first one is by Daphne Goodall and is entitled Successful Show Jumping. Captions on the pictures indicate that most of them were taken in Europe but the book was published in this country. However, jumping techniques must be somewhat the same here or over there. The second book is Saddlery by Hartley Edwards. This book, too, has a decidedly British flavor. Nearly 200 pictures show many types of equipment and the index seems to be a good one.

We have The Burden and the Glory by John F. Kennedy. This is a compilation of President Kennedy's speeches and statements during the last two years of his administration. It closes with the speech he would have made in Dallas on November 22, 1963. We have also this week the Encyclopedia Britannica publication A Tribute to John F.

Kennedy, which was edited by Pierre Salinger and Sander Vanocur. These are the tributes from all over the world! These are the sorrows!

Art News . .

Two students at the Carmel Art Institute won prizes for pictures sent to the California State Fair, according to John Cunningham, director of the art school.

First prize in the oil painting division of the college and private art school section was awarded to Richard Crispo of Carmel Valley. He has been studying at the Carmel Art Institute since graduating from Carmel High School in 1963. The picture he entered in the state fair is titled "Bottles and Fruit."

Second prize in the same classification went to Eila Wachter who is a third-year student at the Carmel Art Institute. "Spring Garden" is the name of the oil painting she entered.

Both pictures will be displayed September 2-13 in the California State Fair Art Exhibit in Sacramento.

A new exhibit of paintings and sculpture by artist members will open in the Carmel Art Association Galleries today. Mrs. R. Rolleston (Barbara) West is chairman of the hanging committee.

Alexander G. Weygers of Carmel Valley is showing his sculpture, engravings and artography studies in the community room gallery of the Carmel Rancho shopping center until August 23.

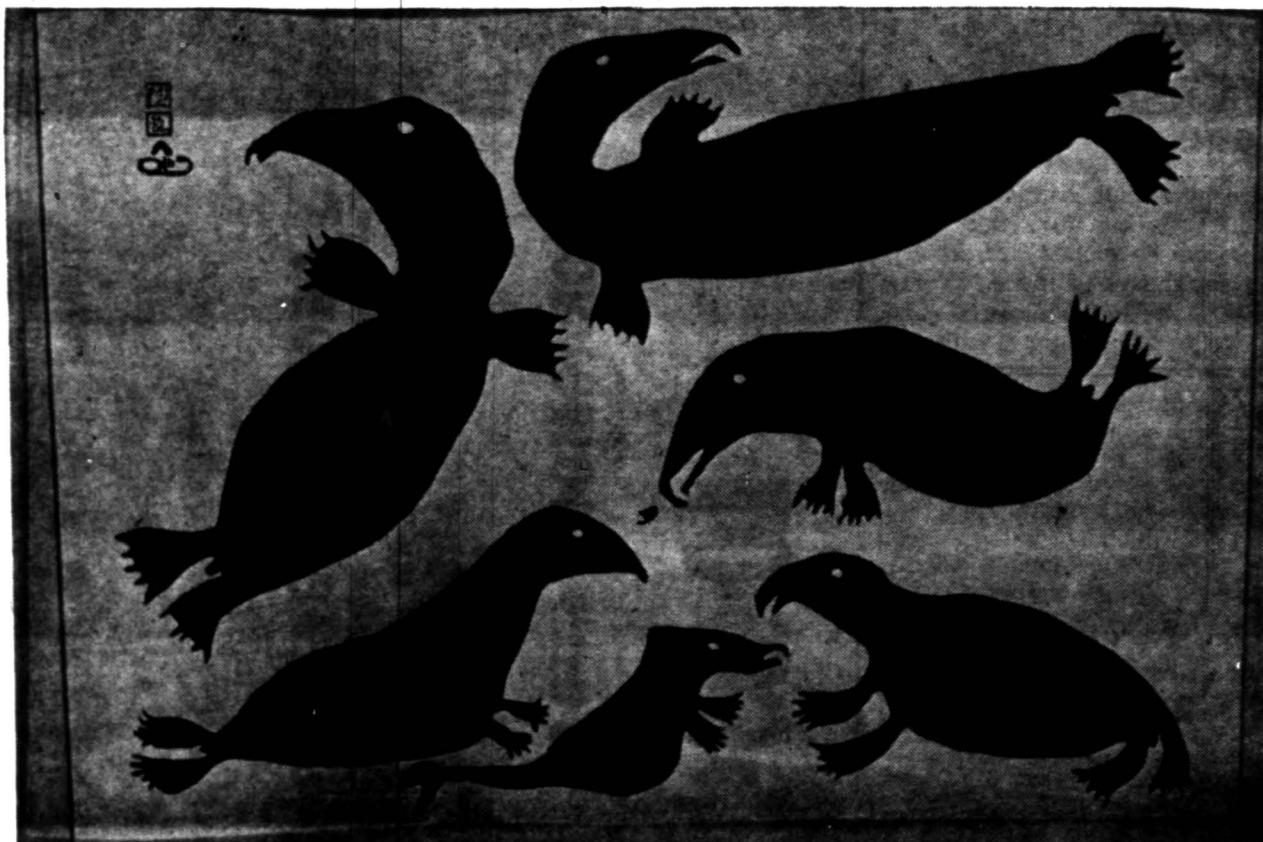

The interesting show includes a group of black and white prints, a departure from his former work in color photography. His sculpture in the show includes some carvings made from Big Sur marble. His engravings apply 19th century facsimile style to contemporary art expression.

Mr. Weygers has exhibited widely in west coast art centers but this is his first complete showing since 1944. In that year he arrived to live in Carmel Valley, and exhibited at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

Originally trained as an engineer in Holland, Alexander Weygers practiced this profession in Java, his birthplace, and in the United States. In 1929, however, he turned wholly to the field of art, studying sculpture in Chicago with Lorado Taft, wood engraving in Paris with Paul Bonnet and marble carving in Italy with Ettore Masi. Artography (his own term) evolved from exploration and discoveries with the camera in recent years.

The current showing of sculpture includes a range from monumental to small pieces in a variety of woods and stones. The most recent work is a large marble piece, a family grouping titled "The Future." It should be realized that sculpture in stone, when of considerable size, becomes a weighty problem in transportation. Weygers' engineering background came conveniently into play last week, as he moved very large pieces, one weighing 1,000 pounds, from studio to showroom. The latter was hoisted into position with a pulley system.

Following the nine-day exhibit of contemporary religious art at the Church of the Wayfarer during the Bach Festival, the votes of 820 visitors to the show gave the popularity award to "Night on That Mountain" by Floy Dore Phillips. Second in popularity was "Village Church, Essex, England," by Beulah Kosty. Third most popular picture was "St.

Family of Whales, seal skin stencil, Cape Dorset, Baffin Island, 1961 by Kiakshuk.

Francis" by Doney Balmer Knight.

Mrs. Robert Aurner was chairman of the committee which arranged and hung the show. She was assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Macpherson, Richard Rodriguez and Charles Thomas. This is the eighth year that the religious art show has been sponsored by the Carmel church.

Honorable mention in the 1964 California State Fair Arts competition was accorded Jeannette Maxfield Lewis of Pebble Beach in the print division, also to Alexander G. Weygers in the sculpture division.

Rollin Pickford, Jr., received an honorable mention in the modern water color class.

The Artists Guild of America, Inc., through August, is presenting a one-man exhibition of oil paintings by Edward Norton Ward and a group show of the work of 17 other artists.

Since 1959, Mr. Ward has had a studio in Pacific Grove. He was born in Los Angeles and graduated with a degree in mathematics from the University of California at Los Angeles. Following a two-year tour of duty as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force, he entered the field of design and use of high speed computers. He also continued his painting, first begun when he was a student at UCLA. His current one-man show in Carmel includes California seascapes and landscapes. An experienced mountain climber, some of his pictures were inspired by the Sierra Nevada mountains.

The group show at the Artists Guild gallery contains the work of Bennett Bradbury, Nell Walker Warner, R. Brownell McGrew, Frank June, Marshall Merritt, Joyce Jenkins, Helen Barker, Patricia Cunningham, Grayce Cutler, Clarence McGrath, Bonnie Robinson, Yonaha, John Cunningham, Leo Braico, Girard F. Akin Eric Warnick and Elsie Gregory.

The Artist Guild galleries, Monte Verde and Ocean, are open from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone.

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is presenting an exhibit of 32 examples of Eskimo graphic art from Cape Dorset, Baffin Island. This is the 'new primitive expression from the Canadian arctic which startled the art world in 1960. The graphics were first made from stone cut blocks and seal skin stencils. Now copper engraving has been added to the methods.

Since it has long been known that the Eskimo's sense of ethics does not permit him to copy his own work, graphics were not expected from these gifted people. But reasoning is not the same with all cultures, and the Eskimo considered the pulled prints "not of his doing." And so a new art form was possible.

The Canadian government is taking all precautions to see that the Eskimo artists remain uninfluenced because as wards of the government, it is to the advantage of all that Eskimo art remain Eskimo. The individual artists are given paper and pencils to create whatever they choose. For each drawing submitted, the artist receives a token payment. The Eskimos themselves then decide which of the drawings are to be reproduced and by which method (stone cut, seal skin stencil or copper etching). An edition of 54 prints is pulled. Four of these remain as records in the place of origin and in Ottawa. The other 50 are made available to museums, collectors and dealers. The original block or stencil is then destroyed. Profits from sales are returned to the Eskimo group.

The exhibit will remain on view the month of August. It may be viewed from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily except Monday. The public is invited. Admission is free.

National Award Given To Carmel's Eben Whittlesey

Carmel's former mayor and present councilman, Eben Whittlesey, has just returned from Rochester, New York, where he was the honor guest at the annual meeting of the American Council for the Blind, and also was presented with a scroll naming him the council's Ambassador of the Year.

The national award is made for "outstanding performance as a citizen of community, state and nation; for a full, active life dedicated to public interest; and rendering invaluable service to the total blind community, by improving the public understanding of the abilities and potentialities of blind persons."

Following the council meeting, Mr. Whittlesey visited his brother, Granville, at his summer home in Blue Hill, Maine, where the two Whittleseys got in quite a bit of sailing in Granville's sloop.

Regan, Mr. Whittlesey's Guide Dog, went East of course, and won an "E" for excellence although she thoroughly detests flying, Mrs. Whittlesey reports.

ONLY IN CARMEL

Observed By
Harry Fletcher

One of the very delightful features about living and working in Carmel is the friendliness one encounters in the business houses, shops, services, and professions. Certainly this has nothing to do with obsequiousness, affected politeness, or grudging servitude. Far from it. It can truly be said that Carmel business people go "all out" to be helpful, courteous and genuinely pleasant and accommodating.

One of the business places in which I like to receive service is Al Hood's Shell Gas Station at the corner of San Carlos and Fifth. I like the way those attendants swarm all over my car, checking everything every time I drive in there, cleaning the windows all the way around, testing the battery, oil, water—overlooking nothing. And it is not only me they do this for, as you will quickly discover, but for each and every customer. I even saw them do it for a car which just went in to ask the way to Pebble Beach. And you'll find the boss, Al Hood, is right on the job every minute of the day right alongside your car, seeing that each detail is attended to with promptness and professional alertness. And if, say, your muffler is rattling loose, you won't get out of Al's Shell Station without having it called to your attention. And, best of all, these people without exception give you the impression that they are enjoying their work, and that the satisfying of each customer's need is the most important thing they have to do. It gives me a sense of importance, too.

A great new restaurant which opened in Carmel just about two months ago, The Marquis, (San Carlos at Fourth), has really "caught on" with Carmel people. The reason for this is quite obvious for those who have had the privilege of dining there. The food is royally fabulous. The service is truly in the royal manner, and the elegant atmosphere and appointments are regal in every respect. The superbly French cuisine is handsomely reflected in the menu, running the scale from hot artichoke with Hollandaise sauce to Steak Chateaubriand with Bearnaise sauce, or stuffed breast of capon under glass, and dozens of other exotic dishes which are attracting Carmelites by the dozens every night. They are open only for dinner.

Walter Becker and Werner Kalms, the proprietors, are your ever-present hosts, giving personal supervision to every impeccable detail of the wonderful food and service, besides consulting with you on your choice of vintages. These two master chefs are already well-known to hundreds of long-time residents of Carmel, being also associated in the Sans Souci Restaurant on Lincoln Street. Practically any evening you can be sure of seeing parties of Carmel gourmets enjoying their favorite pastime to the king's taste at The Marquis. It's really the place to go for the "only in Carmel" touch.

"Not only dozens, but dozens and dozens of knowledgeable Carmel people have been coming in to see these treasures," stated Stanton Bier, Carmel manager of the branch of The Fine Arts Gallery, of Scottsdale, Arizona. He was speaking of the public response to the showing of antiques, silver, porcelains, oriental rugs, ivory, crystal, linens and collections of almost priceless treasures acquired from estates and distressed stocks displayed at the unusual sales rooms situated in the new building group known as The Mall on San Carlos Street, between 5th and 6th. Two public sales are held here daily, except Sundays, in the afternoon between 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock, and in the evenings from 7:30 o'clock. The gallery is open all day, however, Mr. Bier pointed out. "We maintain an open-door policy," he said, "and cordially welcome everybody to come in and just browse around. You will see prize-winning statuettes, real Tiffany silver tea sets, imported oil-paintings and loads of delicate and utilitarian vases and other art objects which are daily going into Carmel homes to become, undoubtedly, treasured heirlooms for future generations." Mr. Bier was very emphatic about his company's policy of "customer satisfaction." "We have on our wall," he emphasized, "a framed guarantee that unless the customer is fully satisfied with his purchase, he has 90 days in which to get his money back. Can we be more Carmelish than that?"

The SUR COAST

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

The community of Big Sur was deeply sorrowed by the untimely death of young Rowena Kelly, daughter of Mrs. Rowena Kelly, principal-teacher at the Captain Cooper elementary school.

Neighbors and friends desperately fought to save the life of the 12-year-old Carmel Junior High School student, after she was discovered by her older sister, Dorothy, floating face down in a portable plastic swimming pool.

The pool was in process of being installed and filled with water in the yard of her home on the Post Ranch, Big Sur, when the fatal incident occurred.

When the call for help was put in for the child, the Red Cross ambulance responded. Members of the U.S. Forest Service, Stephen Goetz and Tom Moore, also Noel Clarabut, highway patrol officer, and Dr. Janbura of the U.S. Naval Facility, Point Sur responded, too.

Mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration was administered to the child, without a moment's interruption from the time of the tragic event, and during the 30-mile journey to the Community Hospital. The Carmel Red Cross ambulance brought a doctor to assist the rescue team from Big Sur. They met at Bixby Creek. All efforts to revive the attractive, well-known member of the Big Sur community failed.

Marcia McGinnis Pops Up In Pages Of 'Mademoiselle'

The 1964 college issue of Mademoiselle magazine might well be called the Carmel edition because Marcia McGinnis pops up all over its pages, one way and another.

Marcia's job, as guest promotion art director, involved promoting the contents of the August issue. She also designed a brochure featuring next year's Mademoiselle College Competitions Contest.

A winner in this year's contest, Marcia spent a month in New York as a paid temporary employee of the magazine. She also modeled in the annual Mademoiselle Back to College Fashion Show, and flew to Britain with the other guest editors.

Starting backwards in this month's issue of Mademoiselle, Marcia designed and drew the illustration on page 370. Her picture is on page 341; she is quoted on page 320.

She had a ride on the "beauty-go-round" described on pages 316-319 and said her experience at the Revlon salon made her feel like "a piece of a car being drawn through a car factory" but the results were "wonderful."

Aboard a launch on the Thames in front of Big Ben, Marcia appears on page 224.

More of Marcia's art work appears in advertisements on page 212 and it looks as though she drew on Pacific Grove for inspiration in one of them. Another advertisement by Marcia is in the upper right corner of page 157. On page 3 she is given credit on the masthead of Mademoiselle for her work, only some of which is mentioned above.

Because of her work in preparing the magazine she was asked to stay on longer than the month planned and will not leave New York until August 15.

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGinnis of Carmel Point. She will return in September to San Jose State College for her last year as a design major.

Trustees Adopt School Budget Of $2,280,462

(Continued From Page One) penditure on a par with last year. A four percent growth in student attendance is expected this year. There will be fewer teachers than last year, but better teaching equipment, he said.

He pointed out that the budget could be reduced only by greatly increasing the size of classes, or by employing lower-salaried beginning teachers.

The importance of employing teachers of high ability, on the other hand, ensures benefits directly reflected upon students' grades, he added.

Principals approved last night for the various schools were Warren Edwards, Carmel High; Dan Yurkovich, junior high; Orville Rogers, Sunset; Mrs. Anna Kohner, Carmelo and Woods; William Mallek, Tularcitos; Mrs. Nancy Bottero, Palo Colorado; and Mrs. Rowena Kelly, Captain Cooper.

Kindergarten transportation was added, last night, to Pebble Beach school bus routes. The bus route to Arroyo Seco, ordered by Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil for eight children in two families, was included in the approved bus routes, otherwise essentially the same as last year's.

Wilder and Jones, Inc. was awarded the bid for a dust collecting system for the high school shop. This will cost $8,255.

City Joins Norberg In Fight To Save Del Monte Limited

The council approved a preliminary survey for upgrading the fire department by the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau. If the fire department is upgraded, fire insurance rates will drop within the city.

A resolution of appreciation for Floyd Adams' services to the city as building inspector from 1940-1964 was approved and Mr. Adams applauded by the council and audience.

On their Tuesday tree tour, the council approved installation of a telephone at the foot of Ocean Avenue.

Going Are The Days Of Haphazard Talk About Our Weather

All weather information will be unemotionally and accurately recorded by equipment of the city's weather station, and relayed to the U.S. Government Weather Bureau.

When anyone, anywhere, wants to know about Carmel's weather there will be facts to rely on... not fancies.

"Just like in New York, Chicago and San Francisco," said Mayor Herbert Blanks just before the other councilmen joined him in a unanimous vote to spend $200 for a municipally operated weather station.

The fire department will handle this new city project. As soon as it's operating, everyone, everywhere, will know just how much fog, rain and sunshine we do or do not get and this knowledge, probably, won't make the least bit of difference to all the differences different people differ about, weatherwise, in Carmel and nationwide.

But Carmel will be on the weather map! Hi! Washington, D.C., you'll be hearing from us!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Using "Spirit" as a name for God, the Christian Science Bible Lesson on Sunday will explore how the qualities of Spirit bring harmony into human affairs.

Bible readings will include this description: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law" (Gal. 5).

Among "selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (p. 265).

Committee Hopes To Curb Vehicles In National Parks

Wilderness conservationists in many parts of the nation are joining forces to fight the threatened vehicle take-over of forest trails historically reserved for the use of horsemen, pack stock and hikers.

"The goal of our newly-formed organization is to help curb the encroachment of vehicles upon trail systems that lie outside designated wilderness zones," said Fred Eissler, Santa Barbara, California regional chairman of the National Committee for Protection of Trail Country.

"Roads have been overrunning a million acres of undedicated wilderness each year and now motor bikes, designed to travel over rough terrain at the roads' end, are penetrating the remainder of the unprotected trail country at an alarming rate. If this major threat continues, the growing number of wilderness campers and hikers will find few places to go where they can enjoy nature's beauty and solitude undominated by the noisy mechanized atmosphere of the city streets," Eissler declared in announcing the establishment of the new committee.

The committee is especially concerned about vehicle activities in the national forests, where a majority of the nation's unzoned trail country is located. "If the forest service restricted motor travel to roadways," Eissler observed, "the scooters and 4-wheel drive vehicles would certainly not be excluded from the public lands. The forest service is planning to triple its hinterland roads in the next few decades from 150,000 to 550,000 miles and its primary roads by approximately the same number with many of them replacing trails. Certain parts of this program can be disastrous to wilderness, but the vehicle enthusiasts cannot complain about having nowhere to go."

DEMO CANDIDATE AT WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Sanford (Sandy) Bolz, chosen as candidate for Congress in the 12th District Democratic primary election, flew to Washington on Wednesday to participate in the three-day 1964 Democratic Candidate Conference beginning today.

Bolz, 49-year-old Salinas lawyer and former government official, will join U.S. Senators, Representatives, Cabinet members and White House aides in the conference. He was invited by John M. Bailey, Democratic national chairman.

He expects to confer with President Johnson and to attend a White House reception. Mrs. Bolz is accompanying him on the trip.

Council Chops Budget Items, Tax Rate Drops

Before the budget study Monday night, the council approved an expenditure of $224.50 for insurance to protect the city and its police officers against false arrest suits. This sum is included in the total insurance approved last night.

Eliminated Tuesday night were $750 for exterior light of the Forest Theater premises, and $1,000 for renovation of the Theatre-in-the-Ground. Chopped off of the Harrison Memorial Library budget was $2,070 for painting the exterior of the building and interior of the children's room.

Councilman Whittlesey stated that income from legacies left to the library should be used to pay for this improvement of the premises.

Department budgets left unchanged were: City clerk, $37,075; building inspector, $22,752; city engineer, $14,400 ($10,000 of this amount not included in the tax rate); city treasurer, $780; planning commission, $10,724; arts commission, $2,175; comptroller, $1,200; civil defense, $1,585; public health $1,250; elections, $62; civic activities and unsegregated expense $700; fire prevention, $6,757; traffic signs, $1,100; street paint, $1,500; street lighting $940; parks and parkways, $5,600; tennis courts, $300; rest rooms, $500; beaches, $400; parking lots, $150; street and sidewalks $51,497 (city pays only $7,128 of this); storm drains, $3,800; police station, $785.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.
